What is HealthValues?

Health insurance is expensive, yet it still doesn't pay for a majority of everyday medical bills because of a high insurance deductible. If you pay $1,000 or more out of your own pocket before your health insurance kicks in, you are not alone. But there are cost-effective ways to save money on common health care expenses while protecting your family finances.

Who is HealthValues?

HealthValues was started by people who have worked for years to help consumers deal with their high health insurance deductibles and medical costs. Learn more about how we help individuals and families receive cash for accidents or illnesses, and provide money-saving discounts on health care.
