"God Provides" Basket Craft

Remind students of the blessings of God from our second lesson about God providing for Ruth and Naomi with this craft! This is a good alternative to the barley weaving craft shared in Lesson 2, especially if you have young students or have just a brief time for an activity.

Supplies Needed:

- Paper plate (one per student)
- Glue
- Yellow construction paper
- Crayons
- Scissors

Optional Teacher Prep:

Cut out wheat stalks ahead of time for young students who may be unable to do it themselves. I cut mine like an oval shape with a point at the top (see photo below) but you can absolutely make them look however you want!

Cut paper plates in half (this is how you'll make the "basket").

Instructions:

1. Give students both halves of a paper plate. Have the students color one half brown and make criss-cross marks to give the plate the appearance of a basket.
2. Give students several grain shapes each so they can use a brown or black crayon to color the shapes (see below for example) like a grain of barley.
3. Glue or staple the two sides of the paper plate together around the outsides and tuck the grains into the "basket" by glueing them behind the front half of the paper plate.
